DETAILED ACTION

Claim(s) 1-33 is/are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bronfin et al. (US 2002/0086811) in view of Norville (US 6,845,809).

Claims 1-32 are rejected on the same grounds as stated in the Office Action of 26 October 2005.

Regarding claim 33, the Examiner notes that the claimed and prior art products are identical in composition, therefore the presence of Al_4Sr can be presumed to be inherent. See MPEP 2112.01 I.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 23 February 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

First, applicant argues that Bronfin provides no motivation to combine. In response, the Examiner notes that Brontfin states (0010) that the alloys can be used in semi-solid casting but does not provide the details. One of ordinary skill in the art would have incentive to look to further teachings on semi-solid casting. Norville teaches in a method of semi-solid casting (col. 19 lines 11-40) that semi-solid fraction percentage determines the viscosity, which is varied depending on the size and shape of the part to be cast.

Second, applicant argues that semi-solid fraction percentage cannot be considered a result effective variable because the semi-solid fraction percentage affects more than the viscosity. In response, the fact that applicant has recognized another advantage which would flow naturally from following the suggestion of the prior art cannot be the basis for patentability when the differences would otherwise be obvious. See Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985).

Third, applicant argues that the alloy of Bronfin in view of Norville would not have the claimed properties or microstructure. In response the Examiner notes that the claimed and prior art products are identical in composition, therefore properties and microstructure can be presumed to be inherent. See MPEP 2112.01 I.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
